PRETTY LITTLE DONORA GIRL GETS INTO LOCAL COURTS

Father of Mary Swannick, Who Turned Down Fiance for Rejected Suitor, Swore out a Warrant for Her Arrest Here This Morning.

Mary Swannick, a pretty and attractive little Slavish lass of fifteen summers who lives in Donora, and who, on account of her sweet smile and winning ways, has admirers by the score among her own countrymen, is at present causing her parents many a heartache and the local police considerable trouble in an effort to clear up her matrimonial difficulties.

The case which is rather a romantic one was first brought to light this morning, when the girl's father, Fred Swannick, a well-to-do Slav, of Donora, came to Monessen and asked for the aid of the local police in the search for his daughter, whom he said had been persuaded to leave her home, fiance, and all by George Shunick, a local Slav, who had been an ardent but unsuccessful admirer. According to the girl's father among Mary's large list of lovers was one John Gnora, who after a warm courtship was finally rewarded by the girl's promise to marry him and the consent of her parents.

The marriage license was secured and everything was made ready for a big wedding. But right there is where Mary rose up and proved to the satisfaction of all concerned that she had a mind of her own and that a not unfickle one.

Just a few days before the wedding was to take place, Mary disappeared. After some difficulty her father finally located her in this city, at the boarding place of Shunick, the rejected lover.

Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Swannick came to Monessen and made an effort to get the girl to go home with them, but they were given the "marble heart".

The door was locked in their face and they were advised to return to Donora, the girl telling them that she had decided to marry Shunick. Swannick was informed by friends that the marriage license problem had been solved by passing the girl off as an orphan. Fearing that success would attend the couple's plan he returned to Monessen this morning, and swore out a warrant for his daughter's arrest but a complete search by both Swannick and a local constable failed to reveal her whereabouts. The father is now more determined than ever to thwart her plans. Although but fifteen years of age the girl is described as being well developed and having the appearance of a miss of twenty years.

She was until a few weeks ago employed as a domestic at the Hotel Donora Shunick is employed at the Pittsburg steel mill of this city.

Gnora is almost heartbroken over the girl's fickleness and says that life has lost its charm for him. Swannick has been a citizen of this country for several years, coming to America from Austria about thirty years ago. He is industrious and quite well-to-do, and very prominent among his countrymen in Donora. He is very much grieved by his daughter's actions and has announced his intentions of sending her to a reformatory, as soon as she is located.

A THREE SPAN STRUCTURE.

At a joint meeting of the Washington and Westmoreland county commissioners together with a number of the representatives of the Carnegie Steel company and some of the residents of Donora held in Pittsburg, a resolution was offered and adopted providing for a change in the plans of the Donora-Webster bridge. According to the change it will be made a three span structure instead of a four span, as the plans were drawn up. Representatives of the company agreed that 50 per cent of the cost incident to making the change should be borne by the company. Another meeting will be held on November 14, when the final plans for the structure will be completed and the advertisement placed for bids.

Roosevelt declares that to change the leadership and organization of the House at this time means to bring confusion upon those who have been successfully engaged in the steady working out of a great and comprehensive scheme for the betterment of our social, industrial and civic conditions. Such a change would substitute a purposeless confusion, a violent and hurtful oscillation between the positions of the extreme reactionary for the present orderly progress along the lines of a carefully thought out policy.

EDWIN S. STUART WILL CLOSE CAMPAIGN TONIGHT

Republican Candidate for Governor Will Make One More Speech Tonight at McKeesport.—Says Republican Ticket Will be Elected.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4—Edwin S. Stuart Republican candidate for governor, issued the following statement tonight:

"The campaign is now practically at an end. I will make but one more speech, that at McKeesport in the Hon. John Daizell's congressional district, on Monday evening.

"After traversing the state from one end to the other and meeting with the people in the various counties, it is impossible for me to reach any other conclusion than that the entire Republican ticket will be elected on Tuesday next. Republicans of Pennsylvania are aroused. They have come to understand the real issues at stake. They have learned to disregard the irrelevant things that have been introduced into the campaign and have reached a realization of what a vote for or against the Republican ticket means.

"We have conducted this fight upon a discussion of the issues involved, keeping away from personalities and abuse, and now that the fight is over, it is particularly gratifying to me that this course has been followed. We have presented our case to the jury, which is the people and we await the verdict with perfect confidence that it will be in favor of maintaining the principles of the Republican party, which means a continuation of prosperity."

Weak Kidneys!

Weak Kidneys surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys like the Heart and the Stomach, find their weakness not in the organ itself but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time and of money as well

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other disturbing or dangerous kidney disease try Dr Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you Druggist recommend and sell

J. B. CORTON.

J. B. Corton, farmer and lumberman, of Deppe, N. C., says "I suffered for years with my back. It was so bad that I could not walk any distance nor even ride in easy buggy. I do not believe I could have raised ten pounds of weight from the ground, the pain was so severe. This was my condition when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They quickly relieved me and now I am never troubled as I was. My back is strong and I can walk or ride a long distance and feel just as strong as I did twenty-five years ago. I think so much of Doan's Kidney Pills that I have given a supply of the remedy to some of my neighbors and they have also found good results. If you can sift anything from this rambling note that will be of any service to you, or to any one suffering from kidney trouble, you are at liberty to do so."

Stimulation Without Irritation.

That is the watchword. That is what Laxative Fruit Syrup does. It uses and stimulates the bowels without irritation in any form. Sold at Kirks Drug Store.

The best treatment for indigestion and diseases of the stomach is to rest the stomach. It can be rested by starvation or the use of a good digestant which will digest the food eaten, thus taking the work off the stomach. At the proper temperature, a single teaspoonful of Kodol will wholly digest 3,000 grains of food. It relieves the present annoyance, gives the stomach in shape to satisfactorily perform its functions. Good for indigestion, sour stomach, flatulence, palpitation of the heart and dyspepsia. Kodol is in strict conformity with the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold by R. W. Beck.

An Ordinance

An ordinance authorizing the grading curbing and paving of that section of Tenth street lying between Donner avenue and Schoonmaker avenue in the Borough of Monessen, Westmoreland County, Pa., directing the Borough Engineer to prepare proper plans and specifications and authorizing the President and Secretary of Council, the Chairman of Streets and Roads Committee and Burgess to give all necessary legal notices to enter into contract for the construction of the same and providing for the expense thereof.

WHEREAS, Donner Avenue and Schoonmaker Avenue are paved and improved streets and a section of Tenth Street lying between said Donner Avenue and Schoonmaker Avenue is unimproved and is one hundred eight-two (182) feet in length and—

WHEREAS, it is desired to grade, pave and curb that section of Tenth street lying between the said Donner and Schoonmaker Avenues in accordance with the act of May 31, 1897, and its supplements and assess the damages and benefits as provided therein

SECTION 1. Now, therefore, be it ordained and enacted by the Borough of Monessen in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same that that section of Tenth Street in the Borough of Monessen, Westmoreland County, Pa., be graded curbed and paved in the following manner and along the route herein after set forth:—Beginning at the south property line of Donner avenue and extending a distance of one hundred and eighty-two (182) feet to the North property line of Schoonmaker Avenue in the Borough of Monessen, Westmoreland County, Pa., the said section of Tenth Street shall be graded, curbed and paved along the route laid out and established on the official plan of streets of the Borough of Monessen, on file in the office of the Borough Engineer.

SECTION 2. That the Borough Engineer and Committee on Streets and Roads prepare and they are hereby directed to prepare proper plans and specifications for curbing, grading and paving the aforesaid section of Tenth Street between the points above set forth, to give all legal notices and to advertise for sealed proposals for the construction of said grading, curbing and paving in accordance with said plans and specifications.

SECTION 3. That the Streets and Roads Committee, President and Secretary of Town Council and Burgess, upon the acceptance of the Borough of any bid or bids for grading, curbing and paving with block, brick or stone of the said section of Tenth Street between the points aforesaid, shall execute and deliver proper contracts for completion of the same in accordance with the proposals accepted and plans and specifications adopted as aforesaid.

SECTION 4. That the costs and expenses of grading, curbing and paving of that section of Tenth Street between the points aforesaid be assessed and collected as provided by the Act of Assembly.

SECTION 5. That all ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent herewith be, and the same are, hereby repealed.

Ordained and enacted in Council assembled this 19th day of October A. D. 1906.

THE HERITAGE of THE ELLIS ESTATE

(Original.)

When Edward Ellis, childless widower, passed his sixty-eighth birthday, being partially blind, he took into his service Dora Laraway, aged twenty-two, her duties being that of companion. He promised to leave her something in his will—he was rich—but died without having made a will.

Meanwhile Dora, who had endured him for ten years, had passed out of her youth and found herself on the world for a living. The disposition of Ellis' property promised to be peculiar. A wife, a child, a brother or sister would have inherited it all under the law. Ellis had had only one child—a son who had gone to the Spanish-American war and was on the list of killed in the fighting before Santiago. There being no near relative to inherit the Ellis estate, it was pounced upon by remote cousins.

Claimants came in great numbers from far and near. There was no unanimity between them, each striving to make his or her own claim paramount. Dora Laraway was inclined to put in a claim for services, but was advised that such claim would not hold good in law.

Among those claiming a share of the estate was a middle aged man who called himself Leonard Ellis. He had come from South America, where he lived, and, as no one had ever heard of the deceased having a relative in that faraway country, he was looked upon with suspicion. He seemed rather disconcerted at the clamor of claimants and apparently disinclined to enter the lists. The reason for this was apparent when he was asked from what Ellis he had descended. He named Leonard Ellis, a captain in the Revolutionary war. The cousins hunted the matter up and found that the said Ellis had never been married.

Since none of the claimants wished the care of the deceased's house and household effects, or, rather, since they all wished to go in and appropriate the effects, it was agreed that Dora Laraway should remain in charge. Meanwhile the cousins were busy hacking at the Ellis genealogical tree, each desiring to cut off for himself the biggest branch. All filed their papers except Leonard Ellis, who since the discovery that his ancestor had died childless, or, worse, that he was illegitimate, had taken a back seat among them. Once, and only once, he ventured to open his mouth. Then he proposed that in view of Dora's services to the deceased and the promise that had been made her one eighth of the estate be signed to her. His proposition was met with such a torrent of abuse, especially coming from one whose claim was fraudulent, that the poor man was abashed. But when it became known that the deceased had embodied his intention to Dora in a letter there was a hush among the claimants, and she was considered as one whose claim should be bought up. When, however, Dora made no use of the evidence she possessed the weathercock shifted again, and it was hinted among them that the letter was a forgery. Dora herself admitted that she had been advised by the stranger Leonard Ellis not to press her claim. This move on the part of one who had he been a legitimate descendant from the man he claimed for a progenitor would have come in ahead of them all puzzled them, but when it was announced that Leonard Ellis had taken up his quarters in the house that had been occupied by the deceased all recognized the fact that some coup d'etat had been sprung on them.

Simultaneous with this information came an invitation from Leonard Ellis to each and every one of them to meet him the next evening at the house an interest in which they all claimed, when he would display a genealogical tree that would settle all dispute with regard to the Ellis property. All accepted and were ushered into the drawing room, where the "tree" was hung on the wall. Mr. Ellis advanced to the map, holding a cane in his hand for a pointer. The Ellis whose name stood first and from which all the rest on the tree were descended was Samuel Ellis, father of Captain Leonard Ellis and Edward Ellis, the grandfather of the deceased. Beneath the name of the deceased was Captain Leonard Ellis.

"Cousins," said the expounder, pointing to this name, "Edward Ellis had a son who was named for Captain Leonard Ellis, who heads this tree. He went to the Spanish-American war, having quarreled with his father, who wished him to remain in business, which he disliked. He became a captain and was erroneously reported killed. Taking advantage of the error to remain a dead man to his father temporarily, he went to South America, where he has since been engaged in coffee planting. He put off declaring himself longer than he had intended and at the time of his father's death was on his way home. He found a babel of claims for his father's estate, none of the claimants knowing of his identity. A few years before he left home his father had taken a companion, and by this companion the son had been refused, furnishing an additional reason for his leaving and remaining away. Since his return he has been accepted by his former love. Cousins, I am Leonard Ellis, only son of the deceased and heir-at-law to his property. There is but one person who has any claim on it besides myself. That person will own it with me."

The heritage of the Ellis property was settled. The assembly broke up, and the next day the united clamor of the claimants was dissipated.

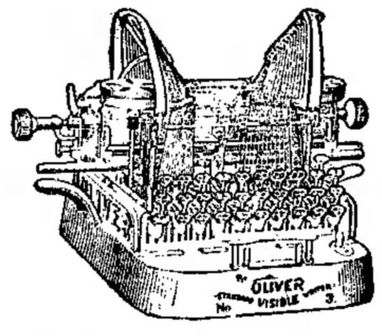
THIS TYPEWRITER DELIVERS THE GOODS

It's the Oliver—the Standard Visible Writer.

The Oliver Typewriter is just like an athlete stripped for a race.



It is free from unnecessary multiplicity of wires and springs.

No net work of flimsy keys to get tied into hard knots.

The nimble-fingered stenographer can put talk into type with this machine just as rapidly as she takes your dictation.

For no matter how swiftly she writes, she can see just what she's doing.

The keyboard is so wonderfully responsive to the touch of the finger tips that speed comes without effort.

The factors that make for speed are its visible writing, its light, elastic key-touch, and it's all 'round simplicity. It has the fewest possible wearing points, and it prints with a downward stroke.

The OLIVER Typewriter

is a flawless piece of mechanism, combining the strength of tested steel with the perfect adjustment of the works of a watch. You can use an Oliver a life time and the type will not lose alignment.

It never suffers from nervous prostration; requires only a little oil and plenty of exercise to keep it at the highest point of efficiency.

The hum of Oliver Typewriters is heard in the most progressive business houses in the land. Sales increasing at a phenomenal rate. Get acquainted with the Oliver! Write for the Oliver book—we send it free with our compliments.

APPLICATIONS FOR STATE AID

Forty (40) applications for State Aid in the reconstruction of roads have been filed with the State Highway Department, since the passage of the Sproul Good Roads Law in 1903, which was later superceded by the Act of May 1st, 1905, from the following districts in Westmoreland County.

The amount of money available for road-building purposes in Westmoreland County until June 1st, 1907, is $131,212.47. The 1907 and 1908 apportionment, amounting to about $48,926,50, becomes available on the first of next June, making a total of $180,138,97 for use until June 1st, 1908, at which time the 1908 and 1909 apportionment, amounting to about $48,926,50, falls due, making a grand total of $229,065,47 available until June 1st, 1909.

At an average cost of $9,000 per mile it will require an expenditure of about $873,000 to construct all the roads covered by the above applications, the State's share of which would be about $654,750. As Westmoreland County's entire apportionment, of the $6,500,000 appropriated for Good Roads amounts to but $229,065,47, this leaves a deficiency of about $425,684,53. From the above it will be noted that, unless the next legislature appropriates a substantial Good Roads Fund, it will be impossible for the State Highway Department to construct more than one-fourth (¼) of the roads for which State Aid has been applied, not taking into consideration the petitions which may be made by the various districts during the years 1907, 1908 and 1909.

Thaw on Trial in December.

New York, N. Y.—Special to the Independent.—There is no foundation for the rumor that Harry K. Thaw who murdered Stanford White will be placed on trial this week. The rumor started yesterday, but was positively denied this morning by acting District Attorney Smith. Mr. Smith stated that the trial will not be before December at least. Friends of Thaw are working hard and will spend thousands in an effort to clear him.

STOCK CO. THIS WEEK

Everything is in readiness for the debut of the Chauncey-Keiffer Company in this city this season. All day the stagehands were busy taking into the theatre and placing on the stage the carload of scenery and mechanical effects that this company carries. A sixty-foot car, jammed with special scenery will give the patrons of the theatre some idea of the special effects that are necessary for each play. Beginning tonight "The Kidnapped Bride" will be offered for the first time here. The company comes with an excellent reputation, the criticisms of the papers in other cities being most favorable. Miss Grace Keiffer is the bright luminary of this organization and is said to be an actress of marked ability, charming personality and much magnetism. During the week such excellent successes as "A Ward of France," "Louisiana" and "Thelma," and many others to be announced later will be offered.

A Word About Black Dress Goods

IN the world of black dress goods there are two makers whose product stands out with greatest prominence—Lupin of France and Priestley of England. The blacks of these makers are synonymous with all that is worthy and fashionable.

Judging our store by its assortment of black dress weaves—and this is by no means a bad way to arrive at conclusion regarding the scope of a dry goods store—you are sure to be impressed, for we carry not only every material manufactured by the above makers, but also the most reliable and inexpensive weaves of other foreign and American manufacturers.
